

Founder of Sustainable Living Community Serenbe The Latest Guest on Rubicon's 'Town Haul' Podcast

Atlanta, GA (January 4, 2019) – Rubicon Global, a leader in providing waste, recycling, and smart city solutions to businesses and governments worldwide, today announced its first 2019 industry podcast 'Town Haul' is now live, with special guest Steve Nygren, Founder of Serenbe, a sustainable living community of more than 700 homes in the suburbs of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Nygren joined the podcast to talk about Serenbe's origins, building a more sustainable world starting in his own backyard, and the teaching farm community that makes up part of Serenbe's values.

The 'Town Haul' podcast is consistently one of the most downloaded podcasts on iTunes in the Apple Podcasts Business Charts, and is also available on Spotify and iheart.com.

For more information on Mr. Nygren and the Serenbe Community, visit <https://serenbe.com> or follow them on Twitter @serenbe.

For the latest 'Town Haul' updates, news and information from Rubicon, follow @RubiconGlobal on Twitter or <https://www.rubiconglobal.com/town-haul-podcast/>.

About Rubicon Global

Rubicon Global is a technology company that provides waste, recycling, and smart city solutions to businesses and governments worldwide. It develops and deploys a full suite of cloud-based solutions to help its customers and network of independent waste haulers work towards more sustainable waste and recycling practices, uncover cost savings, and improve operations through data analytics. Using its proprietary technology platform, Rubicon helps its partners find economic value in their waste streams and confidently execute on their sustainability goals, always with an eye towards those solutions that have long-term economic viability. The company has over 1,000,000 service locations worldwide, is headquartered in Atlanta, GA, and has core teams in New York City and San Francisco. Rubicon is a Certified B Corporation and was named a Great Place to Work™ in 2018. Learn more at www.RubiconGlobal.com.

#